

RUSH SLAYER SUSPECT INTO ANOTHER STATE

SNOW WAS CAUSE OF ACCIDENTS ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Morrisonite Was Fatally Hurt: Polo Folks Are Injured

Saturday afternoon's and evening's snow storm, which made streets and pavements dangerously slippery, in addition to putting a damper on business, which during the afternoon was the best Dixon merchants had enjoyed in many months, caused a number of traffic accidents in the community, brought fatal injury to a Morrison man, injury to two Poloites and the death of a deer on state highway No. 2 about five miles south of Oregon.

The victim of the Morrison fatality was John Nygaard, owner of the Steam Laundry in that city, who sustained fatal injury at 4:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon when his truck collided with one driven by Guy Clunk of DeKalb on the Lincoln Highway west of the Whiteside county seat. Mr. Nygaard did not think he was badly injured, and at first refused to go to the hospital for examination and first aid. However he was prevailed upon later to seek medical attention at the hospital where a cut on his neck was treated. Against his wishes he remained at the hospital and at 8:30 complained severe pains in his head and his stomach. Shortly afterward he passed into a coma, from which he could not be aroused, and he passed away at about 9:30.

Poloites Injured

Poloites who were victims of the slippery streets were L. F. Thomas, 86, the oldest merchant in the city, who suffered a fractured hip when he slipped and fell at about 7 o'clock Saturday evening about half a block from his store, and Jack Savage, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Margaret Savage. Unable to guide his sled the boy crashed into an automobile driven by Miss Pauline Hedrick of the Polo high school faculty, sustaining serious injuries to his head and shoulders. He was brought to the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital in this city, where it was found he had suffered three fractured ribs, one of which had penetrated the lung lining.

The buck deer, fatally injured on the highway near Oregon, almost caused a serious auto accident to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mennenga and family, on their return home from a shopping visit to Dixon, at about 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening. They were proceeding cautiously when an object hurtled against the car with terrific force, spinning the auto around several times. When the car finally came to a stop and the occupants got out to investigate they were greatly surprised to find the animal, mortally hurt, lying against the wrecked front end of the car.

To Have Venison

Mannega took the injured animal to Oregon where he notified Sheriff Murray, who in turn summoned Deputy Game Warden Charles Myers, also of Oregon. The latter, after examination which revealed that both of the deer's front legs had been broken, instructed Mennenga to kill it and gave him permission to have it dressed for consumption at the family table. However the family's enjoyment of the venison was tempered by the knowledge that their auto had been damaged to the extent of between $50 and $60.

Five persons, three riding in a coupe and two men in the cab of a large truck bound for Milwaukee, Wis., narrowly escaped being killed Saturday about 4:30 on the route 2 paving at the Schoenholz corner. The truck turned over three times when it skidded on the snow-covered paving, its occupants sustaining only minor bruises and a general shaking up. The coupe was driven by Allen Elmquist, 907 Eighteenth street, Rockford, in which his wife and mother were passengers.

Coupe Hit Guard Rail

In an effort to avoid skidding into the truck which stood across the paving, Elmquist's car skidded into a guard rail fence at the corner and was considerably damaged. The driver sustained cuts about the face and the ladies were slightly bruised and considerably shaken up. Elmquist was brought to Dixon where his injuries were dressed and all returned to Rockford later.

The truck belonged to A. O. Smith of Milwaukee, and was hauling heavy steel castings from Rock Island to that city. In approaching the Grand Detour bridge, the wheels skidded on the paving, on which the snow had been packed, and turned over three times. The heavy steel dies, two of which weighed almost a ton piece were thrown into the ditch alongside the road. The truck was only slightly damaged and as soon as the necessary repairs had been made and the castings loaded, continued on its way to Milwaukee.

HOME LUMBER & COAL COMPANY GIVES DONATION

Goodfellow Fund Now Totals $112.50: The Time Is Short

The Home Lumber & Coal Company of this city made a nice donation to the Goodfellow fund Saturday when it presented a check for $25 to be used for Christmas things for little boys and girls in Dixon whose parents cannot afford Christmas gifts this year.

The Evening Telegraph has also donated $25 to the fund and an anonymous donor gave another $25, which brings the total up to $112.50.

The time for action is so very, very short that all Goodfellows who wish to participate this year will have to act promptly, or it will be too late. We have hundreds of little folks who are hopelessly counting on Santa Claus making a visit to their house who will be heartbroken with disappointment if you Goodfellows do not come forward with your help.

Broken toys that could be repaired should be taken to the fire department at the city hall where the firemen are at work repairing and repainting them, etc.

Cash donations should be mailed or sent to the Goodfellow Department of the Evening Telegraph. Goodfellows who are willing to take a family and provide its Christmas should apply to the Goodfellow Department for names and addresses.

U. S. Hasn't Given Up Efforts to Get Insull From Greece

Athens, Dec. 11.—(AP)—There were strong indications today that the United States has not abandoned its efforts to get Samuel J. Insull Sr., of Chicago, back to America to stand trial on charges of embezzlement.

These indications were reinforced by reports that Forest A. Harness, special assistant to the United States Attorney General, is standing by awaiting more documents from Washington.

Meanwhile, the Greek government at present has not reached a decision as to what if any further steps should be taken on its part in connection with the case, the Greek Supreme Court having ruled the former utilities magnate was not extraditable.

Lee County CWA Quota Increased to 811; Request Made To Bring It To 1,000; Franklin Work Approved

The number of unemployed in Lee county to be furnished employment before Friday, Dec. 15, has been increased from 655 to 811 and in response to an inquiry received Saturday at the county welfare headquarters, a request has been filed with the Civil Work Administration headquarters at Chicago for 1,000 additional men. This request was filed Saturday evening and if granted would provide work for all of the county's unemployed.

Several county projects which have been forwarded to the Chicago headquarters, were returned this morning to be altered before being allowed. These are being checked over today, the necessary corrections made and will be rushed back to Chicago this evening, with a view of having the projects approved as early as possible.

Approval was received this morning for the Franklin Grove project which is expected to furnish employment for 16 men in trimming trees, removing stumps, raising sidewalks, cleaning ditches, grading and back sloping grades in the village. The project provides for 5,000 man-hours of unskilled labor and the estimated cost of the improvements is $3,060.50.

MUCH OF NATION UNDER BLANKET OF SNOW TODAY

Midwest in Grip Of Cold Wave: Colder is Predicted

(By The Associated Press.) Winter's first widespread snow of the season covered many sections of the nation today.

In the Pacific northwest, rambling flood waters brought death and suffering over the week end. The coverlet of snow extended from the Great Lakes region over the northern plains states and the Rocky Mountain region; in the east from the New England states south and westward along the Ohio river valley.

New York City was visited by a snowstorm that reached a depth of two inches.

Cloudy weather with more snow and a drop in temperature was forecast for the New York area.

Washington Hit

Western Washington, with flood waters from the Puyallup and Nisqually rivers, was hardest hit. Scores of persons were made homeless. Only two deaths had been directly attributed to the flood, but 11 deaths were attributed last week to a Pacific northwest storm which preceded the floods.

Heavy property damage was reported in the lower section of Tacoma by flood waters from the Puyallup yesterday, while motorists were marooned when the Nisqually went on a rampage near Olympia. All railroad lines between Seattle and Tacoma were reported washed out.

Midwest Has Cold Wave

The Midwest was in the grip of a cold wave, with a prediction for a further drop in temperature. There was a blanket of snow in the Great Lakes region and over the northern plain states and the Rocky Mountain region.

Warmer weather was promised for the east, which shivered over the week end, Pennsylvania attributed three deaths to the cold snap, while New York had two.

Two mail planes, weighed down by ice, fell to the earth in the snow-clad Allegheny mountains early this morning, but the pilots bailed out safely.

The coldest weather of the winter was recorded at Quebec yesterday with a reading of 9.5 degrees below zero. A blizzard which swept New Brunswick Canada, had subsided early today after six inches of snow had fallen.

Milwaukee Girl to Have Operation to Restore Jaws' Use

Milwaukee, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A 17-year-old girl, afflicted for more than five years with a bone disease which threatens to lock her jaws permanently, is anticipating a happy Christmas.

She has won the consent of her parents to an operation in an attempt to arrest the disease. Several times in the last five years, she revealed in Juvenile Court last week her parents have prevented her from accepting treatment by Public Health workers.

Now Dr. M. N. Federspiel, prominent Milwaukee surgeon, has volunteered to give his services and provide hospital facilities for the operation without charge. He said last night he had not decided definitely on the date, but indicated he would operate as soon as possible, probably before Christmas.

Rutledge Tavern To Be Restored

Chicago, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Restoration of picturesque Rutledge Tavern, the Abraham Lincoln home at New Salem State Park in Illinois, under the Civil Works Administration program was ordered to begin today.

Illinois officials of the CWA notified Menard county to put 50 men at work on the task of construction of a gravel road and park area; transplanting trees and erecting a new foundation for the tavern under the direction of the State Department of Public Works.

A low estimate puts the value of Great Britain's crown jewelry at $30,000,000.

SUPERVISORS IN REGULAR WINTER SESSION TODAY

Several Members are Delayed by Bitter Cold Weather

The board of supervisors convened in the first meeting of the regular December session at the court house this morning at 11:30. The delay was due to the cold weather which froze up the radiators of some of the members' cars. The report of County Clerk Fred G. Dimick of orders paid during the past three months was read at the opening session.

Chairman Walter Origenesen called to the attention of the board a request which he had received from Walter M. McGlaughlin of Springfield, Director of Agriculture, urging the appointment in Lee county of a special noxious weeds committee, composed of members of the board of supervisors. This committee, it is planned, will work with the thistle commission of the various townships of the county, in a campaign against all noxious weeds, and the enforcement of the state laws.

John W. Banks of Compton, for 16 years representative of the county board as supervisor of Brooklyn township, was present at the morning session and was called upon for a short talk. He discussed the campaign against Canada thistles in Brooklyn township, which has been the most active of any township in the county. The morning session of the board continued well on into the noon hour before adjournment was taken.

Tassoni was brought here on a warrant charging that he aided in the attempted delivery. State's Attorney McCabe said he would question the Latinos further in the light of the alleged confession.

Rockford Youth Admits Throwing Gun Over Wall At Old Illinois Prison

Five Being Held In Investigation Of Delivery Plot

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 11.—(AP)—State's Attorney William R. McCabe announced today that 17-year-old John Tassoni of Rockford had confessed he threw a gun over the wall of the old state prison here two weeks ago in a plot to aid a prison break.

Young Tassoni is the son of the landlady of Mr. and Mrs. James Latno, who are held in $10,000 bonds charged with aiding and abetting an attempted jail delivery. Mrs. Jeanette Latino is the sister of Donald Loftus, a convict ringleader in the escape that was frustrated.

McCabe said the youth acknowledged he drove to Joliet from Rockford Nov. 27, with Latino and his wife and took the package containing the gun to a spot where he was directed by the Latinos. After tossing the parcel over the wall where a guard discovered it and spoiled the plot, the prosecutor said Tassoni rejoined Latino and his wife on Collins street three quarters of a mile from the penitentiary.

Cherry, Ill., Dec. 11.—(AP)—A note "confessing" that he committed the murder for which his brother is serving a penitentiary term at Joliet was found today in the clothing of Jake Ferne, dead of tuberculosis here.

His brother August confessed on Nov. 21, 1932 that he shot Ignatz Udach, 39, retired miner, through the head May 13, 1932. August was sent to Joliet for one to 30 years.

Bureau county authorities saw in the note left by Jake Ferne as he died, a plot to free his brother.

PRESIDENT WILL ASK C. C. C. FUNDS ONE MORE YEAR

Wants the Reforestation Work Continued: 300,000 Men Working

Washington, Dec. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt intends asking Congress further funds to continue the Civilian Conservation Corps another year.

Working in the nation's forests on a scale never before attempted, the corps represents one of the first steps in his recovery program. In addition, it is putting into practice a long held desire of the chief executive to protect forest resources.

More than 300,000 men, recruited mainly from the unemployed, have been established in 1,500 camps in the task of developing 600,000,000 acres of timberland. The first enlistment was for six months, with re-enlistment permitted at the expiration of that period in order that vacancies could be filled.

In entering the winter camps, now in full working force, the corpsmen went under their second enlistment, which will expire next spring. The President is hopeful Congress will provide funds for further work.

The original plan called for the recruiting of 250,000 men. This was expanded to permit enrollment of 25,000 older men living near forests and specially selected for their experience and knowledge of woodcraft.

Included Veterans

President Roosevelt then authorized enrollment of 25,000 veterans in order that veterans generally and those who formed the last "bonus march" to Washington to demand payment of the adjusted service certificates, could be given immediate employment. In addition some 15,000 Indians were taken in.

All workers in the corps receive a cash allowance of $30 a month, with small additional allowances permitted up to $45 as an inducement to good work. Parts of the allowances, averaging between $22 and $25, are assigned by workers to their dependents or destitute families, with the corpsmen retaining the balance.

McCabe In Cell At Lee County Jail From Which He Escaped Aug. 30; Habeas Corpus Is Frustrated

Ernest J. McCabe, indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of burglary and larceny for the attempted theft of several cases of cigarettes from a merchandise car at the NorthWestern freight house, is again in a cell in the Lee county jail. Sheriff Fred Richardson and Chief Deputy Ward Miller returned home Sunday evening at 6:30 from Joplin, Mo., with McCabe in their custody. He was one of five prisoners in the county jail who, after digging a hole in the south wall, made a successful break for liberty on the evening of August 30.

TWO T-W PLANES CRASH IN SNOW-SWEPT MOUNTAIN

Ice Forming on Wings Forced Pilots to Bail Out

Portage, Pa., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Braving a raging storm to get the mails through, two planes of the Transcontinental & Western Air Lines crashed in the snow-swept Allegheny mountains early today, the pilots bailing out safely.

Wings encrusted with ice under a falling temperature, the two mail planes, neither carrying passengers, lost altitude so rapidly that the pilots had to take to the parachutes, over the treacherous mountains during a snowfall of blizzard-like intensity.

One pilot, Gene Burford of Columbus, O. reported he was safe shortly after he went over the side of his eastbound plane near Portage.

The other, Harold G. Andrews of New York, pushing his way westward, phoned hours later that he had reached the ground at Roaring Springs, in Blair county, fifty miles from Portage.

THREE DIE WHEN FIRE WIPES OUT MARATHON HALL

Hampden, Me., Scene Of Tragedy: Many Dancers Were Burned

Hampden, Me., Dec. 11.—(AP)—The gay and stormy history of Hampden's marathon dancing contest has ended in tragedy.

Fire, breaking out last night while a blizzard howled outside the pavilion and the footsore contestants rested in their coats, cost the lives of at least three and brought injuries to many more.

From the blazing Paradise dance hall, where they had plodded many weary weeks amid the applause and cheers of their supporters, the thinly clad dancers fled into the bitter cold. They forgot the prizes for which they struggled as they plunged knee-deep in snow drifts piled high by a 30-hour storm.

Barefoot In Blizzard

Pajama clad young men and women, barefoot and many of them painfully burned, milled about in the driving snow and near-zero temperature seeking partners and friends. The char/1 bodies of three were found in the ruins early today.

The victims were tentatively identified as: John Ryan of New York City, Emile Pelletier of Waterville, Me., Gertrude Sousa, of Braut, Mass. Many of the survivors suffered severe frost bites in addition to their burns.

The origin of the blaze was uncertain but several of the survivors believed the pavilion's chimney had been toppled by the storm and the building ignited by the hot air heating plant.

Recessed Over Sunday

The marathon had suspended over Sunday to comply with the Sabbath laws. The cry of "fire" aroused the drowsing dancers shortly after 11 P. M. So rapidly did the wind driven flames sweep through the barn-like dance hall, that none of the group was able to stop for clothing or belongings.

The Hampden fire department, aided by apparatus from Bangor, could do little to stop the flames. An ice-bound brook afforded the only water supply.

The marathon opened five weeks ago in the midst of bitter controversy. The town selectmen denied petitions that a license for the enterprise be refused. The Sunday following the opening police raided the hall while 1,000 persons looked on. The management paid fines totalling $250.50 and the dance went on. Since then, however, it has recessed over Sunday.

It has been estimated that the total world divisions of forest areas amount to nearly 9,000,000,000 acres; the total forest area of North America is almost 1,500,000,000.

Fifty per cent of the children of Pittsburgh appearing before the juvenile court came from broken homes.

McCabe In Cell At Lee County Jail From Which He Escaped Aug. 30; Habeas Corpus Is Frustrated

The Lee county officers left here Friday morning with requisition papers which were honored by the governors of Illinois and Missouri for McCabe's return. Upon their arrival at Joplin late Saturday afternoon, they learned that habeas corpus proceedings had been instituted to effect McCabe's release. He was to be taken before a court for a hearing on the writ Saturday evening, but the prompt arrival of the sheriff from Lee county armed with the governor's order to turn McCabe over to the Illinois officers, prevented a long delay and he was immediately started back to Dixon.

OKLA. OFFICERS MOVE TO AVOID MOB UPRISING

Cowboy Charged With Murder of Wichita, Kansas Couple

El Reno, Okla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—A man's body believed to be that of Harry Pritchard, missing Wichita, Kas., merchant, was found today along a gravelled highway three miles north and one mile east of El Reno by two officers, the Sheriff's office here was notified.

BULLETIN

Hutchinson, Kas., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Jack Wisdom, 26-year-old cowboy, brought to the Kansas state reformatory from Oklahoma today to save him from possible mob violence, was said by W. O. Lyle, Wichita detective captain, to have made a verbal statement that he participated in the kidnapping and killing of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pritchard of Wichita.

Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas announced at Topeka that he would call out the National Guard if it became necessary to protect Wisdom.

"I intend to maintain law and order in Kansas," Governor Landon said.

The Governor and Brig. Gen. Milton R. McLean were keeping in close touch with the situation and had National Guardsmen in readiness for immediate mobilization if it became evident mob action was imminent.

Kingfisher, Okla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Hustled away in a tense atmosphere of vague mob rumors and amid the mobilization of troops, Jack Wisdom, whose arrest preceded discovery Sunday of the body of Mrs. Harry Pritchard, was held today in a secret place of safety.

The Kansas cowhand was caught in connection with the disappearance November 23 of the Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard of Wichita, Kas., they disappeared after allegedly having sought to collect from Wisdom, under threat of prosecution for a no-fund check.

Oklahoma and Kansas officers, meanwhile, moved to carry out in a systematic way the search for Pritchard's body that spread over the country south of here last night, when officers drove the handcuffed Wisdom over side roads to follow his confused directions as to where the body was hidden.

"He claimed to know where it was but he said he didn't kill them," said Sheriff Ed Martin of Kingfisher. "There's another man mixed up in it, according to him."

Troops Mobilized

Officers seized the swarthy little cowboy before dawn in a highway nestled in the lonely eastern Oklahoma hills south of Joplin, rushed him hundreds of miles to Kingfisher and, spurred by discovery of Mrs. Pritchard's body under a culvert near El Reno, a few miles north of here, started the search for the body of Pritchard.

Many Cities Seek Perfect Back Meet

Representatives of Chambers of Commerce of several of the larger Illinois cities have been in Dixon the past few days conferring with Dr. S. Chandler Bend, urging the holding of the Illinois Perfect Back contest in their respective cities. The contest has been made possible through several months of effort on the part of Dr. Bend, who hopes to have the event staged in Dixon. It will be the first contest of its kind to be held in Illinois. For a number of years the contest has been conducted in Los Angeles, Cal., and has become a local occasion.

dear old fellow, is as merry as ever with a beaming smile wreathing his face and a kindly word of greeting for everybody.
Everything else is in readiness and no one is going to be disappointed. All the surprise features which Santa promised to bring with him are straining at the leash to fall into the spirit of the momentous occasion.
Miss Mary Christmas is ready with her automobile load of gas-inflated balloon animals which she will release at the rate of 300 in five minutes' time during the parade.
Little Red Riding Hood has her beautiful team of Shetland ponies, dazlingly decorated and perfectly carried, impatiently waiting to dash into the parade with her brightly-colored Roman chariot and its colorful occupant.
Santa's team of eight Alaskan wolf hounds with its Eskimo driver is barking in its harness for the command to rush into the parade with one of its most gorgeous and spectacular features.
The living grotesque figures, Santa's funny toys, are ready to delight the children and elicit ejaculations of amazement from their elders. Santa's living fairies, like the rest of his loyal subjects, are on hand to help promote the spirit of good feeling.
Route of Parade
The parade will form at Ottawa ave. and First street, starting at 1 o'clock sharp, and the line of march will be north to River street west, to Galena avenue, south to Second street, west to Madison avenue, north to First street and east to Ottawa avenue. After the parade Santa's log cabin will move to Hennepin avenue, between First and Second street, where the patron saint will meet all the children, after which the broadcasting will begin, to continue until 9 P. M., to which hour all stores will remain open.

HOLIDAY PUDDINGS

Christmas fruit puddings are really improved in flavor if they are allowed to stand for a while to "ripen" before they are served.
So now is the time to bake or steam your puddings for the holiday season.

A DINNER MENU
(Using Leftovers)
Celery Soup Sautéed Wafers
Roast Beef Hash
Browned Sweet Potatoes
Bread Apple Sauce
Pear Salad
Pumpkin Tarts Coffee

CHRISTMAS RECIPES
Holiday Steamed Pudding
1-2 cup fat
1-2 cups brown sugar
6 eggs, beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon extract
1-2 teaspoons salt
3 cups bread crumbs
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups chopped raisins
1 cup chopped candied fruit
1-2 cup chopped citron
2-3 cup chopped nuts
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and half fill greased pudding molds. Cover tightly and steam 3-4 hours. Unmold, cool and wrap in waxed papers. Store in cool place until serving time.
To reheat, place in double boiler heat for half an hour.

Make several small molds and give them as little Christmas remembrances. They will serve as most acceptable gifts by housekeeping friends. If suet is used as fat in pudding, it should be chopped finely.

Foamy Sauce
1 cup butter

the week end.

Excellent Concert Netted Neat Sum For Tuberculosis Society Milk Fund

The benefit concert for the Tuberculosis Milk Fund in Dixon, given Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'- clock at the Methodist church, under the direction of Mrs. E. M.
Goodsell, proved one of the most enjoyable and successful events of the season. The church was filled with music lovers and with those desiring to aid in raising funds for the Milk Fund. Guests were present from Sterling, Rockford, Oregon, Polo, etc., etc.

The concert was given by the Trobadeaux Ladies Chorus of Dixon assisted by the Misses Clara and Mary Stager of Sterling under the direction of Mrs. E. M. Good-sell.

The organ concert by Miss Naomi Woll started at 4 o'clock and lasted until 4:15 and was very delig-ent, giving a festive atmosphere as the guests were being seated, the program proper not starting until 4:15. There was no admission to the concert, but an offering was taken and fifty-one dollars and fifty cents was the sum realized for the benefit of the T. B. Fund in Dixon, which comes at a most welcome time.

The different selections given by the Misses Stager accompanied at the organ by Mrs. B. A. Postler of Sterling were unusually beautiful and delightfully rendered. It was a gracious gesture of these Sterling ladies to assist with their talent this concert.

The Trobadeaux who always give a good account of themselves were exceptionally fine in their choruses and numbers yesterday. The entire concert was a treat to everyone present and nothing but words of praise are heard today in regard to it. Great credit is due Mrs. Good-sell and all who so kindly devoted their time and talent to it.

Following is the program as given

Get Rid of Dandruff On First Appearance

Dandruff does more than mar the appearance of an otherwise well groomed woman. It weakens the hair, causing it to become dull and lifeless.

The minute you notice the first traces of dandruff on your hair brush you should take immediate steps to get rid of it. There are special tonics which not only dissolve the flakes already there but which really get at the foot of the scalp disease and prevent further scalp formations. All such tonics should be used in conjunction with conscientious brushing.

Part your hair in sections, saturate little cotton pads with the tonic and rub it right into your scalp. Then begin brushing upward and outward for at least ten minutes. Repeat the treatment every night for one month and then do it once a week.

Certain pomades encourage growth of hair around the temples and at the crown of the head.
These should be applied once a week just before you begin brush-ing.

Meeting of Dixon Woman's Club

The Dixon Woman's Club held their regular meeting last Saturday afternoon at the Christian church.

During the business meeting it was announced that the club was donating butter, cookies and jelly at several schools and would be glad to receive further donations to be used for the same worthy cause.

Mrs. L. N. Deutsch, chairman of Club Institutes for the 13th District, came before the club with another of her very instructive institutes. She conducted a spirited and worthwhile parliamentary drill.

Miss Edna Burnham presented the principal of the local high school, B. J. Frazier, who spoke on the subject "Romance by Proxy".

After defining the terminology of his subject he said in part, that,
"Romance helps us to bear the monotony of our existence. It helps us to keep our confidence. The disadvantages are that it encourages the side stepping of real problems.
It prevents the adjustment and growth by character. It creates unfair competition. Books will furnish one the finest philosophy of life."

Mrs. W. C. Durkes introduced Mr.

Richard Canterbury Mandeville of Lake Bluff, Illinois to the club. He briefly explained and interested the club in the Little Theater for young people project.

Appropriate refreshments were served by the hostesses of the afternoon, Mesdames Pitcher, Hall, Wiener, Rosenthal, Swarthout, A.
N. Richardson, Kaylor and Miss Swartz.

Debate Held on Radio Control

The members of the school debate teams, and all those interested in debating, heard a very thorough and enjoyable debate
Friday evening, when two teams from Rockford College, clashed on the subject of radio control. The subject which is somewhat similar to that used by the high school this year, was the College topic last year, and the NRA will be the topic used by the college this year in their debating.

The affirmative side of the question was upheld by Misses Lodine and Blaine, while the negative was represented by Miss Madden and Miss Johnson, with Miss Pel-erson acting as the chairman.

Following non-decision debate,
Miss Berry, the instructor of debate at Rockford College, gave a few remarks, and the remainder of the time was spent in an open discussion of the question, by the audience, the Rockford debaters answering the questions of the Dixon team.

TRY TO MAKE ROOMS APPEAR LARGER

Do all you can to give your house an appearance of vast size. For instance, if there is an unnecessary door between the dining room and the living room, why not have it taken out?

Small rooms should not be overcrowded with furniture. If you need lots of seating space for guests remember that a studio couch or a divan will seat several people and take up much less room than three or four club chairs.

Curtains pushed back toward the sides to give an illusion of greater width and short windows look much longer if the overdrapes touch the floor instead of ending at the window sill.

W. M. S. TO MEET
FRIDAY, DEC. 15th
The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. E. B. Raymond, 421
N. Dement avenue, Friday, Dec. 15, at 2:30.

Mrs. W. S. Morris will have charge of the devotional period.
The leader of the program how will be Mrs. J. F. Young, who will read a paper on "Christmas in Art."

All women of the church are invited to attend.

ermine applied across the shoulders lends a striking note to a knee-length black evening wrap worn by the Countess Saab. The coat, designed by Schiaparelli of that heavily wrinkled crepe called "tree-bark," is worn with a long slender, trained frock of the same fabric.

HARMON UNIT TO MEET WITH

nesday, Dec. 13th. A picnic dinner

CRIME CAN BE HALTED BY BEING EXPOSED.

The crime problem, like the poor, is one of those things that always are with us. A great many citizens have expended much honest labor in recent years trying to find out just why and how the underworld manages to get its steady stream of youthful recruits; and often enough some investigator reports that one big reason is the fact that newspapers give so much space to crime news.

This isn't a new charge, to be sure; but it is heard fairly frequently, and it has bothered a number of high-minded and conscientious folk. An excellent answer is to be found in testimony given not long ago before the Senate sub-committee on racketeering by Dr. Carleton Simon of New York, associated with the New York police force for the last 35 years, as criminologist.

The task of uncovering the elements that create crime, says Dr. Simon, "is made greater and more difficult by the vast confusion of public thought" which arises from this effort to hold newspaper crime stories culpable.

Some people, remarks Dr. Simon, demand that every medium of intelligence, education, and entertainment be made completely harmless to the subnormal mind of the delinquent child. And it does not take the doctor long to carry this thesis to its logical—and absurd—conclusion.

Details of a train wreck, vividly presented, would be too harrowing for a sensitive adolescent mind. Therefore—let the press keep silent about all wrecks on land or sea.

Murder stories affect those with strong homicidal tendencies. Therefore—let no newspaper ever mention any murder case.

Congressional debates, with their mud-slinging and partisan criticism, can give a child a dangerous contempt for political institutions. Hence we must have no more reports of the activities of Congress, no more exposures of malfeasance in office or of derelictions of duty by public officials.

Aud Dr. Simon remarks:

"A truly comprehensive research of the causes of crime requires a study of every influence, good or bad, brought to bear on our youth. Heredity, parental guidance and home life, physical influence, association, school and church influences must all play their part.

"We cannot hope to solve the problem of crime in relation to youth by drawing the curtain down upon crime."

WAR CREDIT PROSPECTS ARE DIFFERENT NOW.

When the chances for a new war in Europe are discussed, the American is apt to have in the back of his head a notion not unlike that which possesses the mind of the village undertaker who watches by the door of a mortally sick friend.

He hopes nothing tragic happens, but he can't help knowing that if it does it at least will put some extra cash in his own pocket.

If Europe, that is to say, goes to war again, Europe will need an infinite variety of the commodities America produces—everything from wheat to poison gas, from auto trucks to shells. An America which has sold steadily diminishing amounts of these and other commodities for years hardly can be blamed for thinking about this.

But it might just as well be pointed out that this time those expectations might be disappointed very sharply. Europe would want to buy those things just as much as in the last war; but Europe might have a very hard time figuring out what to use for money.

In 1914, Europe held vast quantities of American securities. American railroads had used enormous amounts of foreign capital in their construction; so had American factories, American street railway systems, and so on.

When the war broke out, Europe hurried to turn these securities into cash; with the cash, huge purchases of munitions and other commodities were financed. And when that money was used up, the Allied nations borrowed heavily in the American market to buy more.

But things are different today. The amount of sound American securities held today by Europe could almost, as they say, be put in your eye. The shells that could be bought with the money these securities would bring wouldn't last a week. After that, Europe would have to borrow.

And anyone who looks at the present state of foreign loans in this country knows without being told that there would be a different story this time. European bonds would not go like hot cakes now; as a matter of fact, they probably wouldn't go at all.

There are various ways in which American prosperity might be restored. A European war, however, is not one of them.

The Russians are wiser than we; they talk in terms of five-year plans, not months.—Dr. Albert J. Benton of Western Reserve University.

There are some who, finding themselves in a desperate difficulty, seem to assume that there can be no remedy except a desperate remedy.—G. K. Chesterton.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

One little plane that Windy found just wouldn't go, when it was wound. Said he, "I guess it's up to me to fix the little thing."

The two elves watched him for a while and then one shouted, with a smile, "Say, I know what's the matter. There's a bent place in the spring."

Wee Windy looked and said, "You're right. Your surely have real good eyesight. I'll bend it right back into place. Then this plane will be set."

He quickly had it back in line, and then the little plane ran fine. Said he, "Some tot will be real glad to get this plane, I'll bet."

"Let's paint a while," one elf cried out. "I love to splash bright paint about." "Now, wait a minute," Windy cried. "The splashing stunt won't do."

"If you'll be careful as can be, then I will let you paint with me. Each plane must look just perfect, when with painting we are through."

He promptly showed the elves

just how to paint, and then he said, "Well, now I'll let you go right on with that, while I test wheels and wings."

They worked away, and 'twas real fun. One elf said, "We soon will be done. I know that Santa will be proud of all these little things."

Wee Duncy, in the meantime, was a very busy lad because he started snooping round while Santa Claus was out of sight.

I will not hurt a thing, thought he. Just eyeing tops appeals to me. As long as I am careful, I am sure 'twill be all right.

And then he found a box, and cried, "I guess I'll find out what's inside. He pulled a hook. What happened made the frightened lad jump back."

Wee Goldy yelled, "The joke's on you, for doing what you shouldn't do." And then poor Duncy realized, 'twas just a jumping jack.

(Goldy plays and the Times sing in the next story.)

Daily Health Talk

TONSILS

Though it has been demonstrated clearly that the surgical removal of even perfectly healthy tonsils does not produce bad constitutional effects, nevertheless an operation is an operation, and few children can be expected to go through the ordeal without being rendered some what sensitive regarding operations.

Hence, attempts have been made in recent years to clarify the conditions under which the surgical treatment of tonsils is warranted.

Simple enlargement of the tonsils seldom warrants their surgical removal. On the other hand, when the tonsils contribute to the development of respiratory disturbances, such as frequent colds and sore throat, and when they cause considerable alterations in the tones of the voice their removal is desirable.

An occasional inflammation of the tonsils does not in itself warrant surgical intervention, but when the condition becomes chronic and is associated with enlargement of the lymph glands at the angle of the jaw and in the neck radical surgical treatment is usually warranted.

When the child has suffered from joint rheumatism, preceded by inflammation of the tonsils, removal of the diseased tonsils is indicated. In the condition when the kidneys of the child are diseased and when there is also a history of tonsillar disease, the tonsil condition requires careful looking into.

In chorea or St. Vitus' dance, diseased tonsils are sometimes responsible for the condition. In rheumatic fever involving the heart and in glandular fever, the surgical removal of the tonsils frequently produces good results.

It should be borne in mind that while we speak of the tonsils as if there were but two in number, one on each side of the throat, there are in fact four tonsils, one at the root of the tongue, one in the back of the throat and two at the sides.

Hence the surgical removal of the tonsils often calls for the complete clearing out of all lymph tissue masses in the so-called tonsillar ring of the throat.

Everyday Religion

THE SEAMY SIDE

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

Bacon in his Essay on Revenge tells of the bitter sadism of the Duke of Florence. For example his saying about friends: "You shall read that we are commanded to forgive our enemies; but you shall never read that we are commanded to forgive our friends."

It is a "desperate saying," as Bacon calls it. If taken for the whole of truth, it shuts the door, closes the chapter, and leaves us in a blind alley. If our friends are either false or foolish or both, we can only sit by the poisoned spring of life and mourn.

Or take the saying of Clinias in the laws of Plato: "That which men for the most part call peace, is but a naked and empty name; but the truth is, that there is ever between all states a secret war." Again, if we take that for the truth, our hope of peace on earth is as vain as all the vain things proclaimed of Solomon long ago.

There is Walpole saying "All men have their price. There should be very few Prime Ministers. It is not good for many people to know how bad men are." Once more, if we cannot build on God and good men the foundation is gone and our house is rotten. It leaves us unhelpful, if not hopeless, and we have no heart to go on.

Or take two modern sayings, one about the World War: "If the war did not teach us to love our enemies, it at least taught us to hate our allies." And this, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you—Mad!" Such sayings, dipped in acid and salted with cynicism, inhibit our best life and leave us helpless.

Yet each of these sayings has enough truth in it to make the mind sting and wince. But it is a half truth—if so much as that—which may be worse than a lie. Action is paralyzed, and thought runs into a dead-end. Life loses its luster and grace.

Half truth is bitter; it shows the seamy side of life—stitches knotted, twisted and awry. But the whole truth liberates us, releases life, and reveals the pattern of beauty and divine surprise.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God The Preserver Of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 10.

The Golden Text was, "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms" (Deuteronomy 33:27).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee; he shall never suffer the righteous to be moved" (Psalms 55:22).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind that made man maintains His own image and likeness. . . . All that really exists is the divine Mind and its idea, and in this Mind the entire being is found harmonious and eternal. The straight and narrow way is to see and acknowledge this fact, yield to this power, and follow the leadings of Truth" (p. 151).

Sky Ride Don Juan—That Was Wynekoop

Heart breaker of the Sky Ride was Earle Wynekoop, the man of 50 loves, whose amorous entanglements were bared by the murder of his wife, Rheta, in Chicago. So numerous were his affairs that he kept a diary of smitten maidens, listing their characteristics by code. In typical pose as he tried his "line" on Mary Gerken, World's Fair cashier, Wynekoop is shown resting on a bench in all his uniformed splendor during a lull in his day's work as Sky Ride attendant. At right is Flo Conley, another girl friend, who worked in one of the Fair's electrical exhibits, listed in the diary as "2-4-9-10," translated as "blond, pretty, exhibit, sentimental."

PILLAR OF SALT

By L. L. R.

It may be well to look well before you leap, but if you wait too long on the brink someone is likely to give you a shove, without waiting to ask you if you've picked out a good sort place to land.

There may be something in a name. Anyway, a Chicago stock broker's name is Sincere.

Bainbridge, secretary of state under Wilson, has complained legally against the bong-bonging of the chimes in a huge clock near his office. He claims the noise is most distressing. Now these chimes happen to belong to a clock on which are advertised the wares of a certain shoe company.

We, in Dixon, may smile at Mr. Colby's objections; especially since the offender is a shoe company. The shoe factory which is reopening here can put loud chimes all over town, for all we care. Not only that, but the cement plant can dump tons of dust all over the city streets, if it takes the notion.

A little late, perhaps, but I noticed it only now: On page 616 of the November issue of the National Geographic magazine there is an amusing picture. There is a dog in one corner of the picture, and he really has nothing to do with the illustration itself. But the funny part is that the mutt is very obviously biting a flea. A mutt is a mutt, and a flea is a flea, the world over.

No one seems to become greatly alarmed by anything new on the national or international horizon. Going off the gold standard and recognizing Russia (hitherto unheard of things) caused hardly a ripple among the people as a whole. Why, even actual repeal doesn't seem to change life greatly; for the present, at least. There's no question about it: It takes a huge thing to move mass emotions nowadays.

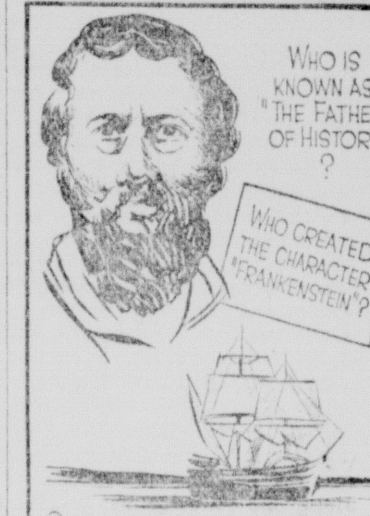

At least, if we follow the monetary situation closely enough, we'll all become economists without the expense of academic tutoring.

The proposed merger of Northwestern University with the University of Chicago is not so unusual at that. Now follow closely: In 1928 the big guns in this country were the barons of commerce, and in that year there were many, many industrial mergers. All right, now the high cockalorums are the professional advisors; so why not have a few mergers among the colleges?

Open a pack of Luckies and lay the 20 cigarettes side by side. You can't tell one from another. Every Lucky is round, firm and fully packed—with choice Turkish and domestic tobaccos. And every Lucky is free from annoying loose ends. The tips are clean-cut—the tobacco doesn't spill out. That's why Luckies draw easily, burn evenly—and are always mild and smooth.

OAK FOREST

By Mrs. Leslie Hoyle

Oak Forest—I spent eight delightful weeks this fall on a trip to Washington and a visit with relatives in Ellensburg. After a four day ride on the bus I arrived, September 3rd, at the home of my sister, Mrs. Clarence Powell and family, and the next day attended the Ellensburg rodeo. This is quite an event, and is equal, they told me, in size and thrills, to the Pendleton Roundup. The Indians were down from the Okanogan reservation arrayed in their blankets and feather head-dress. The bead-work on their clothing and their horses' trappings is wonderful and beautiful. One mother carried her four-months-old baby in a saddle-bag, just its little head showing. One Indian woman, Old Celia, is said to be over 100 years old. She lives in Ellensburg and can often be seen astride her horse, riding around the streets.

The Powells moved to Washington nearly four years ago. They like the country very much.

I spent many happy days visiting with my aunts, the Misses Lillas and Mary Lawrence, who will be remembered by a great many of their old friends in this neighborhood, having lived here all their lives, until about 22 years ago, when they moved to Seattle, afterwards settling near Ellensburg, where they purchased a ranch. This ranch is now farmed by my brother, Phillip Lawrence, my aunts residing in the city. With them live their two young nieces, Cecile and Evelyn Suydam, whose mother, formerly Miss Sara Guyot, was well known in Dixon and vicinity. Her death three years ago as the result of an auto accident, was mentioned at the time in The Telegraph. Their father, Floyd A. Suydam, is engaged in a salmon fishery in Alaska. He recently sent his daughters a keg of salmon.

Ellensburg is situated in the fertile Kittitas Valley, where wonderful crops are raised. The soil, principally volcanic ash, is loose and black and easy to work. It is necessary to irrigate as there is very little rain through the summer. The spud crop is enormous, and the spuds are very large, frequently running eighteen tons to the acre. One field of oats yielded 135 bushels per acre, and on one farm the wheat made 92 bushels per acre, and this is not unusual.

The climate there is delightful and the scenery is beautiful. We took many nice drives, one of them up in the hills, over the Cloukam road to Don Becker's cabin. Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Becker, of Palmyra. For a good many years he has ridden herd for Schenley Brothers, cattle men, over several hundred head of cattle which are turned out to range in the hills and along the Columbia river, during the summer.

It is not unusual, while driving along the road, to see several lead of young cattle, or cows with calves by their sides, which have drifted down from the hills and are making their way home. They are all branded, of course, so each rancher knows his own stock.

We ate our dinner that day in the cabin, and were glad for the cheery fire, for although it was the 24th of September, there was snow in the hills. Then we continued our drive up over the Cloukam Pass, where we had a wonderful view of the Columbia river and the hills beyond which, for some reason, were just the colors of the clouds, lovely blues and whites, we could scarcely tell where the hills ended and the clouds began.

Down into the Wenatchee Valley we drove, through miles and miles of apple orchards. Then on the Sunset Highway up over Blewitt Pass, one of those thrilling drives where there is a steep, high wall of rock on one side and a drop-off of several hundred feet on the other side.

One long drive we took, about 165 miles. At noon we built a fire of driftwood, dipped water from the Columbia river to make coffee, spread out our lunch, among the sage brush and cactus, and enjoyed an ever-to-be-forgotten picnic. We drove through miles and miles of sage brush, acres of it on either side.

Over in the Sound country, the blackberries grow large and plentiful. One day the Powells loaded a trailer with the necessary canning equipment, and we drove up over Snoqualmie Pass to where the black berries are thickest, about eighty miles from Ellensburg, returning the next evening with 47 quarts of canned berries and a good supply of fresh ones. They do that way in that country. Up in the hills are many lumber camps. In one of these, another cousin, Geo. Ryan, works during the summer, returning to his home in Ellensburg in the winter. As a small boy George lived in the neighborhood of Oak Forest and attended the local school. More than 40 years ago he went to Washington to live with his mother and a step-father and a sister and brother, all of whom have passed away. Out there George is known by his step-father's name, Eldred.

A visit to the ranch was always full of interest. From there we have a good view of the Majestic Mt. Ranier, whose summit gleams white with snow the year around. Ranier is in the Rocky Mountain range and is 85 miles away. The Cascade mountains are around Ellensburg. One day I accompanied my brother who is a school director, when he went to see another director, Johnny Nasan, an Indian, who with his family, lives on 160 acres of their own land, tax free. Mrs. Nasan proudly displayed her five-months-old baby, Joan, who spends most of her little life in a skeen, one of those funny-looking contrivances we see in motion pictures where only the baby's head shows. Phil is not married. He has a young man working for him for company. All my relatives declare their health is much better in that country.

About the middle of October Don Becker told me they had brought 1500 head of cattle down from the hills and were preparing to brand the calves. I frequently saw Rocks

Poles Heroes of North Sea Rescue

Another heroic saga of the seas was enacted in the North Seas when a lifeboat from the Polish vessel S. S. Kosciuszko braved mountainous seas to come to the rescue of sailors aboard the disabled German vessel Horst Wessel. Here you see the Polish lifeboat rowing to the Kosciuszko with the rescued Germans aboard.

of sheep, several hundred in a flock, some with bells on, and pack horses with bells on, following their owners.

The peaceful little city of Ellensburg with its 5,000 inhabitants, in its early days was known as 'Robber's Roost.' They even had a sign up, with that name on it. The trip was wonderful. Over the beautiful Blue Mountains in Oregon; then through the Burnt River and Ogden Canyons, where you keep going up and up, then rush down and then up again, for miles, all the time going around sharp curves, and sometimes looking way down on the river below—it gives you a thrill, and some times another kind of a funny feeling, hard to describe.

At North Platte, Neb., going out, we set our watches back an hour to Mountain Time, and again at Huntington, Oregon, to Pacific Time. The procedure was reversed on the homeward journey.

Between Wamsutter and Rawlins Wyoming our driver told us we were crossing the Continental Divide, at an elevation of 7,189 feet. I spent one day, on the return trip with our son, Frank, in Denver. Frank is feeling pretty well, and has steady work in a run-cutting establishment.

We visited several places of interest in the city with Frank and several friends and also witnessed the big NRA parade which took place there.

Is there anything in the years to come that can bring more pleasure than the fond memories of a trip like this, and a visit with our dear ones whom we may never see again?

What Do You Expect From Your Paper?

What do you expect from your newspaper? Well, you expect more from your newspaper than you do from any other person or institution to which you pay a few dollars a year.

You expect your newspaper to give you all the news for 52 weeks. That's why you pay for it, but,

You expect your newspaper to take the lead in advocating changes for the betterment of the community.

You expect your newspaper to expose graft in public affairs, to forestall it by publishing itemized accounts of all public moneys spent.

You expect your newspaper to maintain a high standard of morality, supporting things that are right and condemning things that are wrong...

You expect your newspaper to maintain a high standard of enterprise, devoting column after column to propaganda, supporting the band, the baseball team, community celebrations, Boy Scouts, high school athletics, school programs, home talent plays and dozens of such causes and events.

You expect your paper to boost for good roads and protect your community's claim to its share of road improvements.

You expect your newspaper to build up confidence in your home financial institutions and protect home investors from making unwise investments of surplus funds, warning against fake salesmen and other financial pirates.

You expect your newspaper to combat the peddler nuisance.

You expect your newspaper to establish friendly contact with rural readers so as to induce them to make your town their town.

You expect your newspaper to give notice of all public meetings, public observances, conventions, etc.

You expect your newspaper to urge support of poor relief benefits, library drives, Red Cross drives, Christmas Seal drives, Legion and Auxiliary drives, poppy sales, forget-me-not sales, have-a-heart drives, etc.

You expect your newspaper to publish church notices, church programs, club news, farm bureau information, demonstration unit news, market news, weather news, bring you the market reports and cover all doings of the many semi-public organizations.

You expect your newspaper to support every meritorious organization effort for the city's good.

And you expect all this for a few dollars a year.

No, it can't be done for that. The money you, as a subscriber pay for this paper covers little of the cost of publishing the paper. The other expense must be paid by advertisers.

Since the advertisers pay a large share of the expense of publishing your newspaper, don't you think you owe them the duty to patronize them whenever they offer you equal or better values than non-advertisers?

And you, Mr. Advertiser, don't you think that in view of the many services which the newspaper performs, for which the newspaper derives no compensation, but which mean more business and more profits to you, the newspaper deserves your advertising and printing business? Make your community newspaper your advertising and printing medium and you help build up the community. Send your advertising dollar away from home and you do just what you wouldn't want others to do to whom you look for your business. It is just as important that the advertising dollar remains in the community as it is for the grocery dollar and the clothing dollar and the rest of the commodity dollars that make your town prosperous to remain at home.

Advertisers also should appreciate the services rendered by this newspaper. The Telegraph has faithfully served this community for 83 years.

Recently The Telegraph was awarded the distinction of being the best paper in the state of Illinois with a population of 20,000 and under.

It wouldn't have been so bad if Fred Schullie hadn't been there—but there was big Fred, listening to Dave Harris talk about how good the Senators would be if they played a certain Harris every day. The two were seated in the lobby of a Washington hotel just after the Senators had won the American League pennant. In the midst of Dave's baseball discourse an attractive blond flitted into the picture with pencil and card in hand, seeking an autograph. "You're Mr. Cronin, aren't you," she asked Dave, giving him her best smile. "Well, no, I'm not Cronin, but I am Dave Harris," the ball player hastened to reply at the same time reaching for the card and pencil. Whereupon the blond gave him a cold stare and walked away.

Layden Device Put End to Star Player's Lateness

Pittsburgh Dec. 11.—(AP)—Elmer Layden's (above) selection as football coach at Notre Dame, his alma mater, has stirred up tales of some of the devices he employed to keep the boys on their toes at Duquesne University.

It seems that Art Chacko, one time Duquesne ace, had incurred the habit of coming to practice late a bit of tardiness that the old "Horseman" didn't like very well, but about which he maintained a discreet, albeit ominous silence.

One day, instead of starting the drill as per custom before Chacko's arrival Layden held up operations until the star put in his appearance.

Chacko was mystified at finding a startling lack of activity instead of the usual hub-bub on the field as he sidled up to a group of varsity men. "May we start now Mr. Chacko?" asked Layden obsequiously. Chacko never was late again.

two-month fight against infection robbed of a chance to enjoy realization of two of his most cherished goals—repeal of prohibition and legalization of Sunday sports in Pennsylvania.

A militant member of Philadelphia's city council for 14 years, Roper fought hard and long for both.

In that time, he led the Tigers to three "Big Three" championships. He left Princeton in 1909 and coached the University of Missouri eleven, winning the Missouri Valley Championship.

Back With Tigers
The next season found him back with the Tigers, however, and that year the team whipped Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth.

Saddened by his passing, academic and athletic authorities at Princeton paid high tribute to his character.

Mr. Roper's death marks the passing of a vibrant personality, said Dr. Harold Willis Dods, president of the university. "In football he was a distinguished coach, zealous for the honor of the game. In public life he valued independence and courage above private ambition. His death is deeply mourned at Princeton."

Born in Philadelphia in 1880, Roper is survived by his widow and two children. His son, William W. Jr., was a member of this year's Princeton football squad and, like his father, played end. Funeral services tentatively have been set for Tuesday.

BIG TEN CAGE LEAGUE LIKELY TO BE TOUGHEST
Coaches Discuss An 18 Game Schedule For Every Team

Chicago, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Ranked as the toughest football league in the country, the Western Conference may become just as tough in basketball.

The coaches have discussed a plan for playing 18 conference games, which would make it possible for each team to meet the other nine clubs twice during the season. This probably would eliminate pre-season, or practice games, as each team now is limited to 19 games during the season. The season would start before the Christmas holidays, leaving no time for non-conference games.

The plan has not been offered to the faculty committee on athletics, but may be at the annual spring meeting next May.

Panthers Coming
Two appearances by Pittsburgh's five will feature this week's Western Conference pre-season basketball schedule, a strenuous bill calling for 14 games.

The Panthers will tackle Indiana at Bloomington Friday and the next night will meet Northwestern at Evanston. The activity will start tonight with Iowa's veterans entertaining Iowa State, and Wisconsin meeting Carroll at Madison. Tomorrow night St. Louis University will play at Illinois Northwestern goes to Marquette, and Purdue will open at Lafayette against Indiana State Teachers.

Saturday Big Night
Saturday will be the big night, eight teams going into action—Bradley at Chicago, Michigan at Pennsylvania, Indiana at Wabash, Carleton at Iowa, St. Thomas at Minnesota, Western Ontario at Ohio State and Marquette at Wisconsin, in addition to the Pittsburgh feature.

Saturday was a poor night for the Big Ten, only Indiana bringing in a victory. The Hoosiers defeated DePauw, 24 to 16, but Michigan State, Notre Dame defeated Northwestern 28 to 23, and Ohio State's co-champions took a 34 to 23 setback from Ohio Wesleyan.

CANZONERI TO MEET ITALIAN CHAMP FRIDAY

Tony Favored To Defeat Locatelli In Week's Big Bout

New York, Dec. 11 — (AP)—Cletto Locatelli's campaign for the world's lightweight championship may come to an abrupt halt in Madison Square Garden this week.

The highly touted invader from Italy, holder of the European crown, makes his American debut in the garden Friday night against Tony Canzoneri, erstwhile lightweight, as well as featherweight, champion.

Locatelli is certain to be a short end against rugged Tony whose thudding fists have carried him to knockout victories over Kid Chocolate and Cecil Payne in his last two starts. Somewhat shop-worn by years of ring battle, relieved of his lightweight laurels by Barney Ross and beaten back by the same Chicago youngster when he sought to regain them, Canzoneri still is one of the most dangerous fighters in the business.

The bout is slated for ten rounds, and the winner probably will be matched against Ross.

Another New York match will take Billy Petrolle, Duluth welterweight, into the Ridgewood Grove ring tomorrow night against Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean battler.

Slippery roads are dangerous. Why not protect yourself with the Dixon Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policy. It costs but $1.25 for a year's protection. 28716

MAJOR LEAGUE MAGNATES MEET AND TALK TRADE

Radio Broadcasting Of Games Will Be One Topic Discussed

Chicago, Dec. 11 — (AP)—The business end of major league baseball began warming up today for the annual meetings and trading sessions which officially open tomorrow morning.

During the sessions, which will last for the rest of the week, the magnates will consider such problems as radio broadcasting of the games and a standard ball for all leagues in organized baseball.

Home will be considered in formal meeting but player deals will be tackled wherever and whenever interested parties can get together.

If all the player deals brewing on the various hot stoves are accomplished, some kind of a record is likely to be set. In the American League, based on current rumors, almost everyone interested in player sales and trades will be trying to do business with Connie Mack, manager of Philadelphia's Athletics.

Mack Drops Hints
Mack has hinted that as many as five of his stars may play elsewhere in 1934, and there is plenty of cash-bearing interest in what ever he may have to offer. Almost certain to go is George Earnshaw, right-handed pitcher, who failed to get along so well at Philadelphia last season. The Chicago White Sox are reported to be first in line for Earnshaw there being a possibility that catcher Charlie Berry and cash may be used to get him.

Boston and New York also are said to be interested in Earnshaw. The Red Sox have been reported to be dickering for southpaws Bob Grove and George Walberg, and infielder Max Bishop. The Detroit Tigers are after a manager and have been looking longingly at Mickey Cochrane, Mack's star catcher.

Reds Seek Manager
Cincinnati also is in the market for a manager, although Donnie Bush hasn't officially been let out. Larry McPhail, new boss of the Reds leans toward a playing manager, and it may be Jim Bottomley, his own first baseman. However, Marty McManus, late pilot of the Boston Red Sox and Bert Shotton, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, have been rumored into the job. Other reports have had the world champion New York Giants trading or selling infielder Travis Jackson and outfielder Frank O'Doul, and various clubs getting Wes Ferrell from the Cleveland Indians.

The radio discussion is an annual one, and probably will remain in status quo. The club owners are about evenly divided on whether broadcasting aids or harms attendance. However, instead of giving away the privilege of broadcasting more clubs may sell it to Cleveland and St. Louis do.

There has been enough agitation for a standard ball to indicate something definite may be done. This applies to major and minor leagues alike. The American League ball has acted a little more lively than the one used in the National, and the brand used in some of the lower ranking organizations is suspected of being the reason for 400 or better batting averages.

Although his contract does not expire until next year, Kenesaw M. Landis, Baseball Commissioner, may be given another at the meeting.

MacFarlane Winner of Ten Grand Miami Biltmore Tournament

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 11 — (AP)—Willie MacFarlane, erstwhile Scot plasterer, today possessed the $2,500 first place money of the "ten grand" Miami Biltmore open.

Shading par by one stroke on the final 18 for a 72-hole lead of 288, he came in four strokes ahead of the field, breaking free of a three-way tie on the 54th.

Runner-up was Johnny Revolta of Menominee, Mich., with a 292 to take the second position award of $1,250, while Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., and Tommy Armour of Chicago, split third and fourth money for $875 each when they finished with 294's.

Ralph Guidici of St. Louis, who, with Revolta, was tied with the winner at the 54th, blew up on the ensuing holes and finished with Al Watrous of Detroit with 295's.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha lead the simon pures with a 304 to win the Colonel Henry L. Doherty trophy for the low scoring non-professional.

CHAMPIONSHIP GRID GAME IN CHICAGO SUNDAY

Bears Beat Packers to Get Big Game on Wrigley Field

Chicago, Dec. 11 — (AP)—The Chicago Bears will defend their national professional football championship against Harry Newman and the New York Giants next Sunday at Wrigley Field, in the circuit's first playoff game.

Both teams clinched the leadership in their respective divisions, last week, but by defeating the Green Bay Packers, 7 to 6, yesterday, the Bears finished with the higher percentage, to assure Chicago of the championship battle.

The Bears finished the regular schedule with a record of 10 victories, two defeats and one tie, for a percentage of .833. The Giants won 11 games, lost three and tied none for .786. When the division and playoff system was adopted for this season, it was decided that the team finishing with the higher percentage in the standings, should have its choice of where the title game would be played.

Giants Win Also
While the Bears were squeaking out a one-point victory over the Packers, the Giants ended their season with a 20 to 14 victory over Philadelphia, with Newman showing the way. The former Michigan star scored a touchdown in the second period and kicked the goal. Roger Kirkman ran 64 yards in the third to tie the score but Elvin Richards again put the Giants in the lead in the same frame.

The Giants still had plenty to do, for Swede Hansen raced 61 yards to score and Davis again kicked for the extra point, giving the Eagles a 14 to 13 lead. However, Newman fired a pass from his own 40 yard line to Hank Reese for the winning score.

The trusty toe of "Automatic Jack" Manders gave the Bears the big point against Green Bay. After Keith Molesworth tossed a pass to Eugene Ronzani for a touchdown in the second period Manders went in to kick for the seventh point. The Packers scored on a brilliant 85-yard run by Bob Monnett in the final frame, but Link Lyman saved the day by

The UNKNOWN BLOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DAVID BANNISTER undertakes to find out who killed TRACY KING, orchestra leader found dead in his hotel apartment. Bannister, an author and former newspaper man, works on the murder case with GAINY, star reporter for the Post.

Among those suspected of the crime are JULIET FRANCE, blond and pretty, known to have visited King shortly before his death; HERMAN SCURLACH who wrote King a threatening letter; and JOE PARROTT, down-and-out vaudeville actor. It is also known that MELVINA HOLLISTER, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

King was engaged to wealthy DENISE LANG, MATTHEW HOLISTER, Melvina's brother, told Bannister he believes his sister knows something she is keeping from the police.

AL DRUGAN, friend of King's, is found dead in a wrecked automobile. McNEAL of the detective bureau suspects Drugan's death may not have been accidental.

Bannister convinces POLICE CHIEF HENLEY that the best way to get information about Juliet France is to release her and then watch her closely. He says she will stay at her brother's home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVIII
THE girl said, "But I don't see why you're doing all this for me. I don't understand—"

Bannister leaned forward and spoke to the taxicab driver. "It's the next house on your right," he said. "The white one. Yes—that's right!"

The cab halted and Bannister stepped out. "Here we are!" he said, turning to give the girl his hand.

She stepped to the sidewalk and looked at the small white house so well back from the street. The tall elms and maples made the house seem smaller than it was. Although it was November the grass was still green where it showed between patches of dry brown leaves.

The girl looked at Bannister. "You're sure," she said anxiously. "That your aunt won't mind my coming here?"

"Of course not! She'll be glad to have you."

There were two steps to the tiny square porch and before they had reached the top one the door opened. Kate Hewlett greeted them, smiling.

"Come right in!" she said. "Come right in!"

Bannister thought his aunt was looking very impressive in her dark printed silk with the lace collar. He said, "Aunt Kate, this is Miss France. Miss France—my aunt."

He wondered what his aunt really thought of the girl. There was no way of knowing. Women always smiled and talked at a time like that and said a lot of things they might or might not mean.

Mrs. Hewlett said, "Take off your coat and hat, my dear. Cold out, isn't it, even though the sun is shining. There's a fire in the living room—"

She led the way into the adjoining room where a low fire was burning in the fireplace.

Juliet France paused on the threshold. "What a lovely room!" she said.

Kate Hewlett seemed pleased. "I'm glad you like it," she said. "Some of this furniture belonged to my grandmother. It's old fashioned, but then I'm old-fashioned, too. Here, my dear, you sit here by the fire. David, you'd better put some more wood on—"

David replenished the fire. He noticed that Juliet France was leaning back in her chair and that she looked tired. Her face seemed thinner. Pale, too. Had she been so white that first day he had talked to her?

MRS. Hewlett was speaking again. "I thought a little later we'd have some tea," she said, "but perhaps you'd rather go to your room now. Perhaps you'd like to rest for a while."

"Could I? It's—it's awfully kind of you to let me come here Mrs. Hewlett."

"Why, I'm glad to have you. I'm always glad to see David's friends. If you'll come with me now I'll show you your room."

It was a bed room with windows on the south and west. Afternoon sunshine was streaming through the ruffled tie-back curtains. There were tiny yellow field flowers on the wallpaper and a yellow and white spread covered the bed. The furniture was walnut except for a chair covered with yellow and white chintz.

A door on the left was open leading to the bath. Everything was crisply fresh, immaculate.

"I hope you'll find everything you want," Kate Hewlett's cheerful voice went on. "If you don't, just let me know. Why don't you have a warm bath and then take a little nap? There's plenty of time. Just come down stairs whenever you're ready."

The girl turned. There was something almost tragic in her earnest voice. "Oh," she said, "I can't thank you. I'll never be able to thank you enough. Never!"

Mrs. Hewlett said, "I just want you to feel at home here. Come down stairs after you've had a good rest."

She went out, closing the door softly behind her.

Downstairs David Bannister was lighting his third cigarette when his aunt appeared in the doorway of the living room.

"David," she said, coming forward, "what's the meaning of this?"

It was not the same voice in which Kate Hewlett had spoken a few moments before. The voice was firm now, pre-emptory.

"Why, Aunt Kate—?"

"What's the meaning of this? Kate Hewlett repeated. 'I want to know why you sent that man out here?'"

BANNISTER stared. Then he said slowly, "Oh, you mean the new house man?"

"I mean the man who came here an hour ago and said you'd hired him. I want to know what you mean by doing such a thing. I don't want a man around here—"

"Now Aunt Kate!"

"I don

PRIZE-WINNING ANIMALS BRING LUXURY PRICES

"Blue Ribbon" Stock Of International Sold At Auction

Chicago, Dec. 11—(AP)—Surveying prices paid at the International Livestock Exposition for "championship meat," stockmen think the luxury market may be picking up.

Last year, when the champion animals of the exposition were led to the auction block, the market was dull. This year, however, the buyers—representing hotels, clubs and restaurants—were back in the market, and the bidding was spirited.

Championship beef sold for $1.30 a pound, championship pork for 67 cents. The "prince of steers," the winner among steers raised by American farm boys, brought 61 cents a pound, setting a new high for the exposition.

The grand champion barrow—the hog hero of the exposition—set a new record high when it sold for 67 cents a pound. Less famous meat also brought improved prices. The grand champion swine carcass brought $1 more per hundred pounds than in 1932, the champion carlot of steers $1.25 more.

The champion cattle carcass brought 51 cents per pound, against 21 cents in 1932.

Young Growers Sell
Young cattle raisers whose stock won blue ribbons in the junior feeding contest watched them go to the auction block yesterday.

But the champions commanded champions' prices. James Padgett of Kellerville, Ill., the 18-year-old farm boy who raised the grand champion steer of the junior contest, got $761 for him. The steer, "McHenry Blackcap Hope," was sold to Sears Roebuck & Co. for its executives' dining room.

The champion shorthorn steer, raised by Claud Rhodes of Mendota, Ill., sold for 10 cents a pound. Padgett will use the money to go to college, he said.

The "king of six-hoof drivers," William J. Wales, 62, of Chicago and St. Louis, kept his title intact last night as drivers competed in a feature of the night horse show. Wales was driving a six-horse hitch.

His long fight against Prohibition crowned at last with success, Alfred E. Smith, sponsor of Repeal was caught at his New York of ice in this mood as the good news was passed from Utah.

Maryland Throng Jubilant as Lynch Suspects Are Freed

It took an invasion of 300 steel-helmeted militiamen into Princess Anne, Md., to arrest four men in connection with the lynching of a Negro—but only a 10-minute hearing to free them. This was the scene outside the Princess Anne court as 2,000 fellow citizens hailed the four men following their discharge.

Winner of 1,000 medals and trophies, including three Olympic Skating Championships, Jaffee has brought the highest skating honors to the U.S.A. Asked recently if he was a steady smoker, Jaffee said, "Yes—but that goes for Camels only. I have to keep my wind, you know, and healthy nerves."

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

You've often seen his name and picture in the papers—Jaffee, the city-bred boy from the U.S.A. who beat the best that Europe had to offer, and became the skating champion of the world! Speaking of speed skating and cigarettes, Jaffee says: "It takes healthy nerves and plenty of wind to be an Olympic skating champion. I find that Camels, because of their costlier tobaccos, are mild and likable in taste. And, what is even more important to a champion athlete, they never upset the nerves."

Change to Camels and note the difference in your nerves... in the pleasure you get from smoking! Camels are milder... have a better taste. They never upset your nerves. Begin today!
